

LIFE COACH / CASE MANAGER (LOWCOUNTRY / CHARLESTON AREA)
TRANSITIONAL SUPPORT SERVICES
COMMUNITY-BASED SERVICES DEPARTMENT– COLUMBIA, SC

South Carolina Youth Advocate Program (SCYAP) is seeking compassionate, motivated, and dedicated life coaches / case managers to support youth transitioning out of foster care into independent adulthood. This role is centered on building meaningful, trust-based relationships and empowering young people to develop the confidence, life skills, and resilience needed to thrive. A Life Coach / Case Manager will serve as a consistent source of guidance, encouragement, and advocacy during one of the most critical periods of a young person's life. This position will primarily work in the field.

In this role, you will play a vital part in helping youth successfully transition to independence, supporting them in achieving stability in education, employment, housing, and overall well-being. Your guidance can help reduce barriers such as homelessness, unemployment, and lack of support systems, while inspiring long-term success and self-sufficiency.

Key Responsibilities

- Ensure young adults have safe and stable housing, food, and other basic needs met
- Crisis management
- Build strong, supportive relationships with youth through consistent mentorship and engagement
- Provide individualized coaching focused on independent living skills, including budgeting, employment readiness, housing, and time management
- Support youth in setting, tracking, and achieving personal, educational, and career goals
- Offer emotional support, encouragement, and positive reinforcement to promote self-confidence and resilience
- Assist with job readiness, including resume development, interview preparation, and workplace expectations
- Connect youth to community resources such as education programs, healthcare, housing, and employment services
- Advocate for the youth's needs and help them navigate systems such as education, mental health, employment, and social services
- Monitor progress and adapt coaching strategies to meet each individual's goals and challenges
- Maintain accurate documentation and participate in team meetings, trainings, and case coordination
